P. O. Kanye.

My dear Missionary,

I thank you for your letter of the 18th ultimo relative to cattle, and I am glad to know that you have received them.

With regard to their not increasing as you had expected, I do not know what to say in the matter, but I can assure you that livestock is steadily on the decrease all over the country. I do not know whether they would have increased to any great number even though they were in another man's keeping other than the man who looked after them.

In May when you first wrote, I was so ~~badly pressed~~ very busy that I could not give my attention to that matter, and it was only in July that I was able to attend to it, and the most I could do was to find me to take them to you.

With the good wishes of the Sea

Yours sincerely,
