Dear Chief Tshekedi,

My son, Zen, has sent me your letter to him re the Ranch, Dead Mule. I should like to dispose of this if possible, as I find the responsibility too much for me and I would very much like to have Zen down here with me if possible. I suppose he has given you all particulars regarding size, etc. It is about 7,000 morgen, but you yourself probably know the place. The price would be £3,000 without the cattle and stock, or £4,000 (four thousand pounds) with all the cattle, sheep and stock in the Store, in fact, everything on the Farm as it stands. Will you please write me direct on the subject as it will save time.

I am wondering if you got my letter of Jan. 21st concerning Sebina's debt. I would be glad if you will do what you can in this matter, as I am having a very hard struggle to keep going here, and as I mentioned in that letter, have had to borrow money for which I am paying interest.

Please give my greetings to Semane and your sister. I hope they are well.

With kind regards,
Yours sincerely,

Edith Smith
